

Ninepoint Target Income Fund

A convenient solution for generating income with options

Ninepoint Target Income Fund is a defensive equity income strategy that targets similar returns to many structured note investments in an accessible mutual fund structure.

Ninepoint Target Income Fund Highlights

A Simple Alternative

A single solution that eliminates the need to manage the multiple maturities and expiries of structured notes, while providing daily liquidity.

Targeted Equity Yield

Traditional Mutual Fund structure available to all investors, offering a 6% target income distribution.*

Capital Markets

Supported by RBC QIS

Leveraging RBC Capital Markets' diversified, systematic put selling strategies on multiple equity indices.

Investment Approach

- Diversification: Ninepoint will initiate RBC income solutions on multiple broad-based global indices to reduce the risk of having only one strike, index or maturity dictate returns.
- Laddered Strikes & Maturities: The rules-based put selling strategy rolls strikes on a continuous quarterly basis.
- Active Risk Management: Ability to optimize risk and index exposures to target distribution.
- Cash Management Expertise: Access to institutional cash management solutions to generate additional yield.

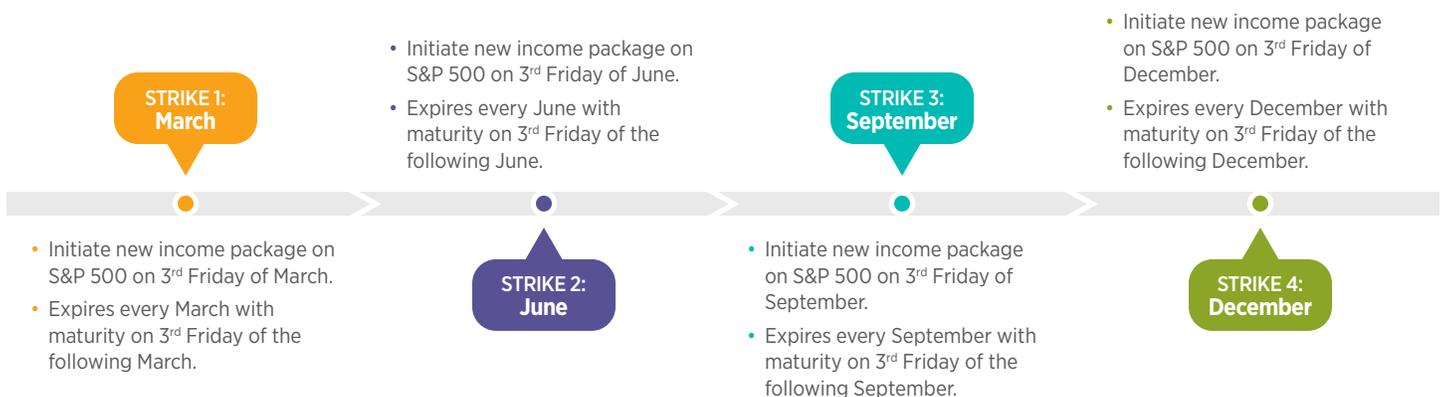

Selling Put Options to Generate Income

A put option is an insurance contract protecting buyers against declines in the price of a security over a specified period. This insurance has a defined deductible up until a price or "strike price", that offers a buffer to the seller against losses.

While the buyer of a put option seeks to profit from price declines, a put selling strategy can be utilized to generate income through the 'insurance premiums' earned by selling put options to buyers. This approach, used in the Ninepoint Target Income Fund, can be structured across various indices and maturity dates to diversify risk, aiming to produce stable income and potentially provide a buffer against downside risk.
