Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Investment Objective and Strategies

The investment objective of Ninepoint Risk Advantaged U.S. Equity Index (the "Fund") is to obtain exposure to the performance of the S&P 500 Index, or a successor or replacement index (the "Index") and through the use of option strategies, seek to moderate the volatility of that performance.

To achieve the Fund's investment objective, the Portfolio Manager gains exposure to equities through investment in one or more exchangetraded funds ("ETFs") that seek to replicate the performance net of expenses of the Index.

The Fund may also:

- invest in cash or short-term debt securities primarily for cash management;
- engage in securities lending and, upon providing 60 days' notice to investors, repurchase and reverse repurchase transactions as permitted by securities regulations; and
- use derivative instruments, such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps, for both hedging and non-hedging strategies.

Risk

The risks of investing in the Fund are described in the Fund's simplified prospectus. The Fund is suitable for investors with a low to medium tolerance for risk.

Results of Operations

The Fund, Series A, returned 18.6% in 2024, while its benchmark, the S&P 500 Index, returned 35.6%.

A continuation of strength in technology shares with more muted performance in many cyclical sectors such as industrial and financials was seen in 2024. Despite the improved earnings trends, valuation multiple expansion drove a meaningful amount of the equity market performance. This could leave equity markets vulnerable if investors start to question the sustainability of AI related investment spending, driving either outright declines in markets or a volatile internal rotation into lagging sectors.

Index implied volatility was relatively stable and low in the first half of 2024, with muted correlation between equities and low single stock volatility. While 2024 was a lower volatility environment compared to prior years, equities did experience a sudden surge in volatility in August, triggered by the unwinding of Yen carry trade positions. This resulted in implied volatility moves well above typical occurrences in comparable equity market selloffs of recent years.

The Fund deployed put-spread collars that offered the strategy equity upside participation until the call strike prices and downside protection between the put spread strikes of the portfolio laddered over the forward 12 months.

The top factors contributing to performance were a rally in U.S. equities and an increase in the S&P 500. The SPDR S&P 500 ETF Trust (SPY) was the top contributor to performance. S&P 500 long put options and call options sold against the S&P 500 long position were the top detractor. The portfolio rolled expiring put spread collars into 2025. This was done to maintain portfolio hedges, in between the put spread strike prices and upside participation, up until the call strike prices, on the SPY underlying.

The Fund's net asset value increased by 1.3% during the year, from $47.9 million as at December 31, 2023 to $48.5 million as at December 31, 2024. This change was predominantly due to net realized gains on investments and derivatives of $0.6 million.

Recent Developments

There were no material changes to the investment strategy and features of the Fund during the year ended December 31, 2024. The Manager actively monitors the positioning of the Fund's portfolio for changes in current market conditions and the economic environment.

1 This information is provided as at December 31 for the years shown.

2 Management expense ratio ("MER") is based on total expenses (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of the daily average net asset value during the period. The Manager may waive or absorb a portion of the operating expenses of the Fund. Waivers and absorption can be terminated at any time.

The trading expense ratio ("TER") represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period. The TER includes dividend expense and securities borrowing expense paid by the Fund in connection with securities sold short.

4 The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor trades its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher the Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of the Fund.

The indicated rates of return are the historical total returns including changes in share values and assume reinvestment of all distributions in additional units of the relevant Series of the Fund. These returns do not take into account sales, redemption, distribution or optional charges or income taxes payable by any shareholder that may reduce returns. Please note that past performance is not indicative of future performance. All rates of return are calculated based on the Net Asset Value of the particular Series of the Fund.

Annual Compound Returns

The following table illustrates the annual compound total return for each Series of units of the Fund for the periods shown. As a basis of performance comparison, the annual compound return of the Fund is compared to that of S&P 500 Index (the "Index"). The Index is an index of 500 stocks actively traded in the United States chosen for market size, liquidity and industry grouping, among other factor and is designed to be a leading indicator of U.S. equities, reflecting the risk and return characteristics of the broader large cap universe on an on-going basis. Since the Fund does not necessarily invest in the same securities or in the same proportion as these indices, the performance of the Fund is not expected to equal the performance of either index.
