Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Investment Objective and Strategies

The objective of the Ninepoint Silver Bullion Fund (the “Fund”) is to provide a secure, convenient alternative for investors seeking to hold silver. The Fund invests primarily in unencumbered, fully allocated silver bullion and silver certificates. The Fund may invest a portion of its assets in cash, money market instruments and/or treasury bills. All silver bullion purchased by the Fund is certified “London Good Delivery”.

As part of its investment strategy, the Fund may also:

- hold cash, short-term money market instruments, fixed income securities or other equivalents at any time, including, in accordance with National Instrument 81-102, other investment funds managed by Ninepoint Partners LP (the “Manager”) that invest all or substantially all of their assets in cash or cash equivalents, for cash management purposes; and
- use derivatives, such as currency forward contracts, for hedging purposes only.

Sprott Asset Management LP is the sub-advisor for the Fund.

Risk

The risks of investing in the Fund are described in the Fund’s simplified prospectus. The Fund is suitable for those investors with a high tolerance for risk.

Results of Operations

The Fund, Series F, returned -15.9% in the first half of 2026, versus spot silver, which decreased by 15.5% in Canadian Dollar terms. In U.S. Dollar terms, spot silver decreased by 18.2%. The spot price of silver was $58.60/ounce (in U.S. Dollar terms) as at June 30, 2026 compared to a price of $71.66/ounce as at December 31, 2025.

Silver’s dual role as a monetary and an industrial metal continued to shape performance. Silver began 2026 by extending its strong 2025 gains, reaching a high of approximately US$116/ounce in late January 2026 after roughly eight months of outperformance relative to gold before retracing down to approximately US$60/ounce. During this time the gold-silver ratio, which had compressed to the mid-US$40s/ounce at silver’s January 2026 peak, widened back to modestly above the historical average of about US$60/oz as silver underperformed gold.

As with gold, the positive momentum in the silver sector reversed in late January 2026 following the nomination of Kevin Warsh as U.S. Federal Reserve Chair, which was interpreted as a more hawkish signal pointing to fewer rate cuts. By late February 2026, the conflict in the Middle East lifted energy prices and the U.S. Dollar while further eroding expectations for monetary easing.

Meanwhile, the multi-year structural deficit in the physical market remains a key factor for silver. Demand growth from industrial applications continued to be led by AI-related data centers, transmission hardware and Electric Vehicle applications. These significant demand drivers were partially offset by thriftiness and lower growth in photovoltaics.

While the more recent higher silver price had a positive, albeit small, impact on mine supply, the pipeline for more meaningful (+10 Moz per annual Ag) projects remains limited. Those that are in the pipeline are constrained by lengthy permitting timelines, multi-year construction periods, and heightened security concerns in Mexico, a key source of global supply.

The Fund’s total net asset value decreased by 23.2% during the period, from $288.1 million as at December 31, 2025 to $221.3 million as at June 30, 2026. This change was predominantly due to net realized and unrealized losses on investments of $35.5 million, net redemptions of $29.1 million and expenses of $2.0 million.

Recent Developments

There were no material changes to the investment strategy and features of the Fund during the period ended June 30, 2026. The Manager actively monitors the positioning of the Fund’s portfolio for changes in current market conditions and the economic environment.

1 The information is provided as at June 30, 2026 and December 31 for the years shown prior to 2026.

2 Management expense ratio ("MER") is based on total expenses (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of the daily average net asset value during the period. The Manager may waive or absorb a portion of the operating expenses of the Fund. Waivers and absorption can be terminated at any time.

3 The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period. As there are no direct trading costs associated with physical bullion trades, the trading expense ratio is nil.

4 The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio adviser trades its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher the Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of the Fund.

5 Last closing price as at June 30, 2026 and December for the years shown prior to 2026.

Past Performance

The indicated rates of return are the historical total returns including changes in unit values and assume reinvestment of all distributions in additional units of the relevant Series of the Fund. These returns do not take into account sales, redemption, distribution or optional charges or income taxes payable by any unitholder that may reduce returns. Please note that past performance is not indicative of future performance. All rates of returns are calculated based on the Net Asset Value of the particular Series of the Fund.

Year-by-Year Returns

The following charts indicate the performance of each Series of the Fund for the period ended June 30, 2026 and each of the previous years ended December 31 shown, unless otherwise indicated. The charts show, in percentage terms, how much an investment made on the first day of each period would have grown or decreased by the last day of each period. Returns are not shown for a Series in any period in which there were no outstanding units as at the end of the period.

* Return from February 25, 2022 (first issuance) to December 31, 2022 for Series D units (not annualized).
 Return from July 15, 2025 (first issuance) to December 31, 2025 for ETF Series units (not annualized).
